ABOUT THE ARRANGER

John M. Pasternak has been an active musician since 2003 while he founded and directed several community groups. In Fall of 2005, John attended Kent State University (KSU) where he pursued a Bachelor of Music Education degree. While a student, John served as President of the Kent State Ohio Collegiate Music Education Association (OCMEA) Chapter, was Staff Arranger for the Kent State Marching Golden Flashes and wrote scores for two Kent State Independent Films. He also composed and conducted works for the KSU Ensembles. In 2008, John is a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP).

After graduating from Kent State University, John began his teaching career in January 2013 and has taught Band, Choir and General Music to students of all ages. John also has been a guest clinician at the Middle School, High School, and College level for both his concert work and teaching experience. He is also currently an active member of the Ohio Music Education Association (OMEA).

While teaching full time, John is also a composer with works published by RWS Music Company, Carl Fischer, Bandworks Publications and Excelcia Music Publishing. John is writing his first book "Teaching Composition in the Classroom: A Guide for New Composers." For more information about the music of John Pasternak, visit his website www.johnpasternak.com

NATIONAL DEFENSE (MILITARY MARCH)

The introduction should have a strong marcato feel. The entire A strain of the piece should have a light staccato feel. The dynamics in the part are crucial and there should be a clear contrast. When the low brass come in with their counter melody at M.19, they should have a contrasting quasi legato feel. The same goes for M.37. The low voices should have a marcato feel while the other parts should have a staccato feel. Make sure there is a clear accent on beat two of M.'s 45 and 49.

At the TRIO, the original arrangement calls for canons. The dynamic contrast here symbolizes a cannon shot. Make sure the marcato accents are played cleanly here and played "dut, dut." Again, the idea here is to sound like a canon. The parts immediately after should have a more contrasting legato feel.

At the interlude at M.86, make sure it starts quietly and that there is clear dynamic contrast here. The original arrangement specifies at M.101, a slight pause may happen between M.101 and 102. There is a * in the score to show the exact placement.

During the final strain, remember that beat one of the measures labeled fff should feel like a cannon shot. Whenever the Trombones have accent notes in this strain, make sure they are brought out, for example being M.108 – 109.

This image displays a page of musical notation, likely a piano score, featuring multiple staves with complex rhythmic patterns and dynamic markings. The notation includes various note values, rests, and articulation marks. A large, semi-transparent watermark reading "Excelcia Music Publishing" and "PREVIEW ONLY" is overlaid across the center of the page. The watermark is oriented diagonally, with "Excelcia" in a large, stylized font and "Music Publishing" in a smaller font below it. The text "PREVIEW ONLY" is written in a large, bold, sans-serif font across the bottom half of the page. The musical notation itself consists of several systems of staves, each containing multiple lines of music. The notation is written in a standard musical notation style, with notes, rests, and dynamic markings such as "fz" (forzando) and "ff" (fortissimo) visible. The page is otherwise blank, with no other text or markings.
