Perilous Seas

By E. Benton Lilliefors

Program Notes

Perilous Seas was originally written in 2022 for the Ann Arbor Summer Music Program.

Your band will battle a sea monster in the piece, Perilous Seas! This high energy, swashbuckling chart has great rhythm work, and time changes as your group divides and conquers the percussion section.

In our story the percussion section represents the monster and the band is a pirate ship and crew that takes sail to slay a savage sea beast. The story begins with ominous gong sounds, bass drum rolls, and far off wind motifs, as our monster (the percussion) enters the water. Then at measure 9, it's suddenly faster and the wind players take sail off to battle the monster.

The melody begins and is mostly found in our low brass voices. They're our ship sailing to meet the beast and the woodwind counter melody is the crew rushing to battle. At measure 49 we are in the full swing of battle. 65 is a reprise of the two melodies in new voices, culminating at 81 for the final battle between wind players and percussion. It's fast entertainment and the kids have a blast putting this piece together!
