PROGRAM NOTE

Exciting fanfare flourishes combined with intense driving rhythmic content creates a powerful musical statement in Tromba Grande for trombone choir by Robert W. Smith. Composed for the University of Alabama Trombone Choir under the direction of Dr. John Whitaker, Tromba Grande was premiered at the Alabama Music Educators Association Convention in Montgomery, AL, in January of 2015.

NOTES TO CONDUCTOR

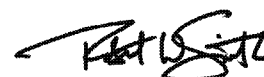

Although written in six parts, the fanfare requires a minimum of 8 players. Note the divisi in the first and second parts. Should you have additional personnel available, please double based on your ensemble's strengths and needs.

Composed for the more mature ensemble, the articulations throughout provide ample challenge and opportunity. Strive for a uniform approach to the double and triple tonguing.

Note the rhythmic dissonance in the third and fourth parts beginning at measure 11. Careful balance is required to maximize the effect and insure the sense of musical momentum.

Note the ritardando beginning at at measure 50. A conductor would be very helpful to insure a clean entrance at measure 52. Please allow the bass trombone(s) to maximize the effect of the low Bb in the last measure!

I hope that you and your ensemble enjoy Tromba Grande and find it to be a valued addition to your program. Best wishes for a wonderful performance!
