Misty Canadian Mornings

Hear the muted splash of the canoe paddle; the lonely, spacious call of the loon; and the soothing hush of the breeze blowing through the evergreens in Algonquin Park, a beautiful area north of Toronto, Ontario. In British Columbia, on the west coast of Canada, there are ancient groves of huge cedar trees. Either place can evoke a sense of wonder and timelessness as a cool mist settles over the breaking day.

Fisherman's Shanty

Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island are known as the Maritime Provinces. Until recently, one of the major industries in the Maritimes was cod fishing. These provinces are a great source for folk music and gorgeous places to visit. This movement contains references to two famous Maritime folk songs, "I's the B'y that Builds the Boat" (I'm the Boy that Builds the Boat) from Newfoundland and "A Farewell to Nova Scotia" from Nova Scotia.

Prairie Hymn

The Prairie Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are known for their countless cattle ranches and expansive farms where wheat is grown. They are marked by marvelous, infinite blue skies and wide, open spaces (the average population is 6 people per square mile). Imagine a lone horseback rider on the prairie at dawn or dusk surrounded by a peaceful and quiet stillness.

Carnaval de Québec

Québec City, the capital of the province of Québec, is the home of the Québec Winter Carnival. It is famous for its many activities including the International Snow Sculpture Show and the appearance of Bonhomme, a live snowman character. The introduction to this movement is a quote from a famous French-Canadian song, "Ah, si mon moine voulait danser!" (Come and Dance with Me!)
