Program Notes

The island of Jamaica, pearl of the Antilles, and an important crossroad of the Caribbean, has long been famed in song and story. In addition to their own traditional repertoire, Jamaican folk singers and musicians have freely adopted songs and dance forms indigenous to the West Indies. Harold Walters has skillfully composed a concert suite based on melodies representative of this rich heritage.

The suite opens with the relaxed rhythm of the Mento used in conjunction with the favorite song Darling (also known as Yellow Bird or Choucoune). Then follows Day Light (Banana Landers' Song), a typical work song with its contrast between a slow rubato verse and the rhythmic chorus sung while the tallyman counts the stalks of bananas. This music continues with the two songs played concurrently, and then alternately over the underlying Mento rhythm. The Promenade movement introduces an original walking theme which leads first to the familiar song Mango Walk, and then to Linstead Market (Linstead Market). This thematic material is further developed instrumentally to conclude the movement. The finale, Jump-Up, musically depicts a native celebration wherein the festivities include food and drink, as well as songs, dances, and considerable sociability. Two new songs are heard, Marionne (Mary Ann) and Fan Me, Solja Man, while fragments of various themes used previously are restated as the suite drives on to its frenzied climax.

Het eiland Jamaica - parel van de Antillen en een belangrijk kruispunt in de Caraïbische zee - is al lang bekend in zijn lied en geschiedenis. In aanvulling op hun eigen, traditionele repertoire, hebben liedzangers uit Jamaica, vele liedjes en dansvormen, thuishorende in West-Indië, vrij bewerkt.

Harold Walters heeft zeer bekwaam een Concertsuite gekomponneerd op representatieve melodielijn uit deze rijke omgeving. De Suite opent met het rustige ritme van de "Mento", gebruikt in samenhang met de bekende song "Darling" (of Choucoune), dan volgt "Day Daylight" (Banana Landers' Song) een typische "work-song" met het contrast tussen een langzaam rubato-verse en een ritmisch refrein, gezongen door de man die de bananenstengels telt.

De kompositie gaat verder met twee liedjes die met elkaar stut-vertje wisselen, later op het ondersteunende Mento-ritme. De "Promenade" introduceert een origineel wandelthema dat naar het bekende "Mango Walk" leidt en later naar de song "Linstead Market". Het thematische materiaal wordt verder instrumentaal ontwikkeld om het deel te besluiten. De finale "Jump Up" stelt een inheemse feestviering voor, waar de feestviersen bestaan uit eten en drinken, zowel als uit liederen, dansen en groeiende vriendschap. Twee nieuwe songs dui-ken op "Marionne" (Mary Ann) en "Fan me, Solja Man", terwijl fragmenten van eerder gebruikte thema's leiden naar een dolle climax.
