All the concertos of the first book and the second book have been reconstructed by the transcriber over the last 10 years by the manuscripts deposited at the National Library of Turin, the Italian Institute Antonio Vivaldi, the Library of the State of Saxony in Dresden. In addition, the continuous bass was made for harpsichord.

The reconstruction of the entire Op.3 L'Estro Armonico is protected by copyright because they are personal reconstructions and therefore it is forbidden to duplicate or resell, but by purchasing the scores the execution is free all over the world.
These reconstructions are cataloged between the transcriptions of Santino Cara with the progressive code number: CS2132.
