We Three Kings Can Swing

When I do an arrangement of a traditional carol it is always a bit of a balancing act...deciding how much to keep of the original and how much new music to add can be tricky. Obviously, the traditional carol needs to be recognizable, but there must be enough new elements to make it sound fresh. It's a fun challenge and one that I really enjoy.

Rehearsal Suggestions

This arrangement should be cool and swinging – be sure the Drums don't overshadow the rest of the ensemble. Trombones have the melody at measure 5, but they are in unison, so the individuals don't need to play too loud. The section at measure 17 uses some interesting jazz chords, so be sure that the Trumpet and Trombone parts are balanced and in tune. The Saxes should be full and strong at 27 but be aware that the melody is just in the lead Alto. Measure 39 adds the Saxes to the Brass chords from measure 17.

The Bass gets out of the F minor pattern that they have been playing and walks during the solo section at 67. At measure 81 the Brass are again in unison while the Saxes are harmonized, so balance will be key in this section. Take the chart out in tempo at a solid forte.
